

Heather Meeker

Heather Meeker is the chair of the IP/IT licensing and transactions group at Greenberg Traurig, LLP, and specializes in drafting and negotiating intellectual property transactions for software and other technology clients. Ms. Meeker has published numerous law review articles and practice-oriented articles in the area of law and technology, and has a special interest in open source software licensing. She was the former chair of the Open Source committee of the ABA's Science and Technology Law Section, was an Adviser to the Principles of the Law of Software Contracts project of the American Law Institute, and in 2005 was selected by the Daily Journal as one of the top 30 intellectual property lawyers in California. She also worked for many years in the entertainment and computer industries, prior to her work as an attorney. She also served as an adjunct professor at the UC Berkeley School of Law and Hastings School of the Law, teaching seminars in software and technology licensing. Her book The Open Source Alternative: Understanding Risks and Leveraging Opportunities was published by Wiley & Sons in February, 2008. She is also the author of Technology Licensing: A Practitioner's Guide, published by the American Bar Association, 2010.