

Anderson Duff is a litigation associate in the firm's New York office. Mr. Duff specializes in prosecution and litigation, including proceedings before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board. He counsels clients on a wide range of intellectual property matters including trademark and copyright infringement matters, licensing issues, domain name disputes, and right of publicity matters. He also counsels clients as to defamation and libel issues, as well as contest and promotions law.

Immediately prior to joining Manatt, Mr. Duff was an associate in the trademark and copyright practice of a Boston-based law firm. Prior to that, he worked in the Media Law Group at NBCUniversal Media where he advised local affiliates across the country and television shows such as Dateline, "The Today Show," and the Nightly News on issues related to copyright and trademark, access to public records, right of publicity, defamation and libel, and promotions issues. He also served as a Research & Conference Fellow at the Fordham IP

Institute, where he participated in the planning of and also moderated sessions at the Fordham IP Conference.

Mr. Duff clerked for the Honorable David Jordon, interned in the Hong Kong Intellectual Property Office, and interned at Michigan Prison Legal Services.
