Wolrad is partner in the DR-IPDR department of our Düsseldorf office and a member of the Patent Litigation Group. He was seconded to the London and Munich offices in 2013/2014. He specialises in various fields of intellectual property law, in particular in patent law and its intersection to antitrust law. Wolrad has substantial experience in patent litigation, in particular in patent litigation with a focus on the IT and the pharma/biotechnology chemical sectors, and regularly advises on intellectual property aspects in transactions.

Wolrad completed his legal education at the universities of Heidelberg and Munich and the George-Washington University Law School. During his LL.M. studies, he worked part time for The Hon Judge Randall R. Rader at the US Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit. Prior to joining Freshfields, Wolrad worked as research associate at the Max Planck Institute for Intellectual Property, Competition and Tax law and as Program Director of the Munich Intellectual Property Law Center (MIPLC), where he was responsible, among others, for the LL.M. IP program.

Wolrad was admitted to the German Bar in 2003. He publishes frequently on intellectual property issues and has given presentations in Europe, Asia and the Americas. He is a faculty member of the Munich Intellectual Property Law Center (MIPLC) where he teaches European Patent Law, and a member of the Editorial Board of the Journal of Intellectual Property Law and Practice (JIPLP).

Wolrad speaks German, English, Russian and French.
