

Susan M. Richey

Susan M. Richey is the Deputy Chief Administrative Trademark Judge on the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. Before joining the Board in 2014, she served as Professor of Law and Associate Dean of the University of New Hampshire School of Law (UNH Law); she currently holds the title of Professor Emerita of UNH Law. Prior to her 18-year tenure in academia, Ms. Richey spent 13 years in Los Angeles engaged in the private practice of intellectual property law, with a concentration on trademark matters and litigation. In addition to her academic and private practice experience, Ms. Richey served as a staff law clerk for the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit.

Ms. Richey has been a frequent speaker on IP issues, has authored several law review articles and has co-authored a book on trademark valuation. She has served as a member of the Editorial Board of the Trademark Reporter, as chair of the INTA Panel of Neutrals, and as a member of INTA's Academic Committee.

After earning a B.S. in Biology from the College of William and Mary, and a B.A. in English from the University of Baltimore, Ms. Richey received her J.D. from the University of Maryland School of Law.